CODY'S STORY: REPAIRING DREAMS THROUGH TRANSITION TO ADULTHOOD COACHING & COUNSELLING

Meet Cody. He's 19, and he's full of ideas and dreams. He's always been good at fixing things, and someday he'd like to open his own automotive repair shop. But first, somebody has to help Cody to fix his life.

Because Cody is homeless.

With no education, and no skills, Cody doesn't have much hope of achieving his dreams. And nineteen is awfully young to have your hopes for the future destroyed. What Cody needs most is for someone to be on his side.

Because Cody's childhood and adolescence had been so disrupted, he never had a chance to learn the lifeskills that most of us take for granted.

We first met Cody only a few weeks ago. He's a former foster kid, who spent his childhood being shuffled through a long series of government foster homes and group homes. When he reached nineteen, the minimal government supports he had received ended. Now, he's expected to fend for himself. Cody has no family, and now that he's officially an adult, he no longer has a home.

Because Cody's childhood and adolescence had been so disrupted, he never had a chance to learn the lifeskills that most of us take for granted. With no one to show him how to set up a bank account, how to shop or cook healthy food, or to do the many other things that keep us going from day to day, Cody's life quickly fell apart. He didn't know where to turn for help, except the streets.

Luckily, our Transition to Adulthood youth workers at SOS Children's Village BC learned about Cody, and reached out to help him. Katie, Stephanie, and Shayne, the trained SOS youth workers in the Transition to Adulthood Program, know how to help Cody. They can give him the support he's been missing, and teach him the skills he needs. And they'll make sure that he feels like he has hope – because hope for the future is the most important gift of all. We want to see Cody achieve his dreams.

In BC today there are thousands of young people who still need our help and support, even after they turn nineteen. At SOS Children's Village BC, we know we need to reach more kids like Cody. That's why we're expanding our Village to build independence suites for youth, where they can start living on their own in a supported environment. The Transition to Adulthood program gives foster teens who are lost and struggling a positive start in life – helping them to finish school, find employment, get safe housing, and build a future. Because everyone deserves to grow up with love, respect and security.

MESSAGES FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD + THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Rene Aulinger

President, Board of Directors

It is my pleasure to work again this year with an outstanding team of Directors, a passionate team of professionals in our office and programs, and of course the many volunteers, donors, and supporters of SOS Children's Village British Columbia.

In 2014, we achieved a number of milestones. One key achievement was the strong financial performance that saw not only balanced operational books with six months of operating reserves in place, but also $50,000 raised in our Transition Suite Capital Campaign, allowing us to start construction. The Transition Suites are the first expansion of our Village in over ten years and we are looking forward to having all five suites up and running, as the need for this residential Transition to Adulthood program is so very high.

During 2014, we joined SOS Children's Villages Canada to celebrate the 65th Anniversary of the founding of SOS International, and our Transition to Adulthood program embraced an alliance with the Vancouver Foundation and other agencies under the "Fostering Change" banner. These alliances underscore one of our key strengths: partnering. As a fully independent SOS Children's Village, we work with the other two North American SOS Villages, Illinois and Florida, we have impactful participation in the EUNA (Europe North America) SOS International Region, and we collaborate with SOS International/Kinderdorf. A 2014 highlight was co-hosting the EUNA Programming conference, held only for the second time ever in North America, and setting the agenda – Transitioning Youth – for the 2015 meeting in Estonia.

We are a supportive partner with other Social Service agencies. We focus on our unique offerings, and work collaboratively to ensure that the maximum number of foster children receive the widest range of services with the least amount of bureaucracy and redundancy.

To the Board, staff, volunteers, and donors of SOS Children's Village British Columbia, I thank you for another wonderful year of success and improvement in the lives of foster children and their foster families.

Douglas Dunn

Executive Director

For the past 28 years, SOS Children's Village BC has had an identity crisis... but no longer. We may look small, but we're discovering our strength, our voice, and our passion.

SOS Children's Village BC is a leading, grassroots, organization – backed by the largest non-governmental, non-denominational child development charity in the world. Our BC Village is in the frontline of 2,365 SOS Children's Village programs worldwide that care for children and young people whose families have been torn apart.

In the spring of 2014, SOS Children's Village BC launched an intense media relations blitz. We sent reporters a press release in an unusual format: a package containing Identity Crisis, a board game along the lines of Trivial Pursuit. It was our way of saying, "We now know who we are, and we're discovering just how much we can do for BC's foster kids. Keep your eye on us!"

At SOS Children's Village BC, we are grassroots. We deliver leading edge programming. We are committed to working with other agencies, Ministries, and others to better the lives of foster children and youth at-risk. And we bring a lot to the table: a world of knowledge, experience, and expertise, thanks to our international connections. We are excited about working with our partners to make real change for BC's foster children.

In the coming year we will be restructuring our programs to ensure they meet the needs of foster kids and families. Thanks to our generous donors and our Thrift Stores, we are not reliant on government contracts, so we can fund our own programs and lead by example. Stay tuned – 2015 will be an exciting year!

I cannot close without mentioning the heart and core of our organization: our Village Caregivers. Anne, Marilyn, Almar, Shirley, Shedion, Brian, and Jaol, thank you for opening your hearts and creating loving homes for children who may never have experienced safety and support before. It has been my honour and privilege to work with and for you.

Thank you to the incredible SOS staff and volunteers for helping our SOS BC children grow into caring, self-reliant adults.

ABOUT SOS CHILDREN'S VILLAGE BC

OUR VISION

Every child belongs to a family and grows with love, respect and security

OUR MISSION

We provide homes, a supportive community, and programs to help foster children and youth in need grow into caring, self-reliant adults

OUR VALUES

Courage: We take action

Commitment: We keep our promises

Trust: We believe in each other

Accountability: We are reliable partners

WHO WE ARE

SOS Children's Villages is the world's largest non-governmental, non-denominational child development organization. In the past 65 years, more than 550 Villages have been established in 134 nations. British Columbia is home to Canada's only SOS Children's Village.

SOS Children's Village BC provides a community-based family care service to improve and sustain the quality of life for foster children and foster families. Foster children are frequently at risk of emotional disturbances, delayed social development and poor educational performance. Foster parents who raise these children require ongoing special resources and support.

SOS BC enhances the development and healing of foster children by addressing their physical, social, emotional and spiritual needs. We actively create opportunities, programs and services for children to become balanced, responsible, contributing members of society. We seek long term stability for the foster children and families in our Village, including a strong focus on transition to adulthood and family reunification programming.

We're building better futures for foster children and youth at risk, through programs that give them opportunities to achieve their full potential and lead healthier, more productive lives.

We have developed a unique program structure that focuses on two distinct areas: the personalized needs of our Village foster families, and community outreach programs for foster children and vulnerable youth.

COUNSELLING SERVICES

For those experiencing difficulties in their lives – whether they are children in care, vulnerable youth, foster parents or caregivers – the Counselling Services at SOS Children's Village BC can help. The professional counsellors at SOS BC support clients, to make sense of the disorder in their lives and to move forward productively.

Our counsellors facilitate the resolution of difficult issues through Expressive Therapies (Art and Play), Cognitive Behaviour Therapy and Neurofeedback Training.

EXPRESSIVE THERAPIES

Expressive Therapies at SOS Children's Village BC give children opportunities, through Art and Play, to explore challenging emotions and difficult issues in a safe, calm and child-friendly environment. These therapies help children to develop the capacity to deal with their emotions, promote self-acceptance, and build on their strengths to develop healthy coping behaviours.

In 2014, Art Therapist Frauke Reddick worked with 24 children from kindergarten to high school age. Most were in foster care or recently returned to their biological parents from a foster care placement. An afterschool drop-in program is planned for 2015.

PARENT DRIVEN AUTISM SERVICES

The Parent Driven Autism Services program is a fee-for-service program serving the needs of children and youth aged 6 –19 years old with Autism Spectrum Disorders. A combination of Behavioural Consultation and Neurofeedback Training helps these children improve their self-regulation and reduce symptoms that adversely impact their social and academic learning. Revenues from the Parent Drive Autism Services program help support SOS BC's donor-dependent programs.

The program has enjoyed significant success in 2014, and the practitioners look forward to expanding the program's client base to serve a broader population. Currently the program serves about 40 families directly and is working towards providing contract services to low-income families in the Downtown Eastside of Vancouver.

NEUROFEEDBACK TRAINING

In 2014, SOS Children's Village BC delivered Neurofeedback Training to children in foster care and youth at risk in the Surrey/Langley area. Neurofeedback training optimizes brain function by helping the brain to re-organize and self-regulate more efficiently.

Symptoms and complaints such as inattention, anger, hyperactivity, anxiety, traumatic reactions, and depression naturally and effortlessly abate, allowing for greater information processing, increased memory, decreased anxiety, better self-organization and high degrees of self-control.

TRANSITION TO ADULTHOOD PROGRAM

The Transition to Adulthood program helps at-risk youth gain life skills, make meaningful connections with their community, and move in a positive direction in their life. The program provides one-to-one support for youth between the ages of 16 and 24 years in the Surrey area.

Most programs for youth end at the age of 19, but youths' needs don't stop at their nineteenth birthday. SOS BC's program is unique in Surrey by continuing to work with youth until the age of 24 – assisting them through the most challenging years of their transition to adulthood.

2014 was a year of transformation in the Transition to Adulthood program. Countless hours of work have gone into building our new Transition Suites, and much valuable learning occurred along the way. Thanks to a grant from Vancouver Foundation, we were able to hire another part-time worker, and we developed a Youth Advisory Circle (YAC). The YAC ensures that youth have a voice in the program, and it has already become a vital piece of the Transition to Adulthood program. Thanks to the YAC, we're developing new ideas and program parameters, and focusing on how we can best serve each individual that comes through the program.

Most importantly, we served 34 youth who had the opportunity to access free therapy and/or neurofeedback training through SOS BC's Counselling Services. We are constantly advocating for our youth to have access to services that meet their individual needs to set them on a positive path to their own transformation.

CAMPS, RECREATION, AND CULTURAL PROGRAMS

Camps and Recreation provides opportunities for youth and children to get involved with their community, learn about their cultural roots, and gain exposure to nature, arts, and fitness. Children in the program learn about life and develop social skills.

In 2014 SOS BC funded monthly activities for 6 Village children, including skating, swimming, ballet, and gymnastics. The children were dedicated and passionate and will continue their pursuits in the coming year.

As always, Sali's Farm was a huge hit. In 2014, six kids attended an 8-week program, working closely with a mentor to learn to care for animals. The mentors and volunteers at Sali's Farm help children overcome past traumas. By the program's end the kids had learned to care not only for animals, but for each other too.

Louis Vuitton continued their partnership with SOS BC for 2014 by designing a program around food. The partners at Louis Vuitton organized a day at a Naples restaurant in Vancouver where kids learned to make authentic pizza. Twelve children attended and received a basket of ingredients to take home to make pizza for their family. Our SOS kids learned about caring for and nurturing others, while having as much fun as possible!

In partnership with Metis Family Services, we ran day camps for 30 children and 14 youth, helping them experience their culture and heritage. Children designed miniature teepees, listened to storytelling by a community elder, learned how to jig dance, and built a miniature drum.

Our mentors and practicum students worked closely this year with the SOS children on a day-to-day basis, helping them overcome social and emotional barriers. Six kids attended mentoring sessions and many of the kids are already asking when the program will start again! The mentors worked hard to design activities around the kids' needs, developing garden-based activities and an all-girls group to help build self confidence. At our monthly talking circle kids have a chance to bring up topics important to them, giving them a sense of community involvement. It's just one more way to ensure that children at our Village are thriving in a positive environment.

LEARNING CLUB PROGRAM

The Learning Club creates a safe and positive space for children in an afterschool environment, ensuring our kids stay safe in our communities while developing academic and life skills.

2014 IN REVIEW

In partnership with the Surrey School District, we provided afterschool programming for over 128 children, including our children at the Village. A further 284 children enrolled in the club in the 2014/15 school year, more than double the year before.

Each year the Learning Club team works to improve and revise its programming, ensuring that we deliver the best quality of service possible. We take great pride in working with the school district to meet the needs of vulnerable schools and families in our communities.

Our BC certified teachers work hard to ensure they provide the best support possible to the children they help on a weekly basis in the Learning Club.

CAREGIVER SUPPORT PROGRAM

Healthy, happy foster children need foster parents who have the supports and encouragement to succeed at a challenging job. It's important to support our parents to ensure they are healthy and stable to care for the children in their homes, and SOS BC works very hard to meet the growing needs of our families.

Our Caregiver Support program has been a huge success in the last year. Monthly meetings with all seven Village parents were conducted by the Village Director, where concerns were addressed together as a team, information and education on parenting was shared, and everyone was updated on changes in the organization.

SOS BC also supported four families outside of our Village community, in the "Virtual Village".

The Village Director was accessible to all the caregivers in the community, Village, and Virtual Village when needed, checked in with them on a weekly basis, and when the families were going through transitions, helped them on a daily basis.

SOUNDS OF LEARNING PROGRAM

Music therapy gives children a sense of identity, and a very strong sense of confidence when they start to see success.

In 2014 our music program, offered in partnership with Resound School of Learning, provided an amazing spring break camp. Five of our Village children learned to play piano during the camp! The instructors were patient and versatile as they assisted children who struggle learning new things. Their approach paid off, as each of the children were able to play a song or two by the end of the program.

Continuing our partnership with Resound, three children and youth engaged in drum lessons, voice lessons, and guitar lessons on a weekly basis for the whole year. We hope to continue developing their skills in the new year.

In our outreach work, 10 children from Martha Currie Elementary learned to play guitar. The children met with instructor Carl on a weekly basis. There was a great sense of pride and all the kids were eager to show how much they had learned throughout the school year.

COMMUNICATIONS

Our 2nd Annual Holiday Season Challenge campaign took place in December 2014. The combination e-mail/mail appeal raised a grand total of $21,745. This was impressive considering the campaign goal was $15,000 – a 170% increase over the previous year! We raised a further $7,500 through our appeal for gift cards for youth in our Transition to Adulthood program, disseminated through Facebook and the Cloverdale Reporter. The response was overwhelming.

We were pleased that online donations were up 56% in 2014 compared to the year before. For the 2014 SOS BC Run & Walk, $12,790 was raised online through peer-to-peer fundraising. Website visits were up 80% over 2013, and our Facebook ads and Google Adwords performed very well, bringing us new followers, visitors, and brand awareness among British Columbians.

The highlight of the year was the record media sponsorship we received for the 2014 Peak of Christmas, a $135,000 promotional value. Ticket revenue for the Holiday Gala was up 60% from $7,350 (2013) to $11,795 (2014), and it was the first time we sold out the venue a full two weeks before the Gala, maxing out at 230 guests.

BUDGET NOTES:

SOS Children's Village BC does not receive federal funding for our programs. Support services for families living in the Village are partially funded through Vancouver Aboriginal Child and Family Services (VACFSS) and a grant from BC Community Gaming. Our programs are funded through our Thrift Store revenues, events, Corporate/Community/ Foundation Grants and our donors.

SOS BC's cost of administration as reported on the Canadian Revenue Agency website is high due to the cost of running our Thrift Stores in Steveston and Kerrisdale. Although the thrift stores bring in substantial income, the cost of operating the stores is considered an administration cost. This increases our non-program costs and therefore skews the CRA reports.

RELATIONSHIP WITH OUR PARENT ORGANIZATION:

While SOS Children's Village BC is proud to be one of the 550+ Villages affiliated with SOS Children's Villages International, we are financially independent and raise all our own operating funds.

Full financial statements audited by Heming, Wyborn & Grewal, from which this summary is extracted, are available by contacting our office.

THANK YOU TO OUR EVENT SPONSORS

Our valued sponsors are the lifeblood of our fundraising events each year, and their support, dedication, and passion ensures our events continue to improve and raise more money for foster children and youth in our Village and in our community programs.

The year kicked off with our annual SOS BC Run & Walk at the Richmond Olympic Oval and wrapped up with our popular SOS Children's Gingerbread Village and the milestone 20th Annual Holiday Gala at Grouse Mountain's Peak of Christmas.

We are sincerely thankful to our sponsors for their support in 2014.
